

Modular brain architecture

A Community × community mean streamline count; diagonal = within

B Edge-weight distributions per community, plus all between-community

C Held at matched edge length the gap survives at every length

Within-community edges are shorter than between-community ones (58 vs 87 mm) and streamline count falls with distance ($r = -0.47$), so panel C compares like with like.